A Simple Cure for Diphtheria.

A few years ago when diphtheria was raging in England, a gentleman accompanied the celebrated Dr. Field on his rounds to witness the so-called "wonderful cures" which he performed while the patients of others were dropping on all sides. The remedy to be so rapid must be simple.

All he took with him was powder of sulphur and a quill and with these he cured every patient without exception. He put a tea-spoonful of flour of brimstone in a wineglass of water and stirred it with his finger instead of a spoon, as sulphur does not readily amalgamate with water.

When the sulphur was well mixed he gave it as gargle, and in ten minutes the patient was out of danger. Brimstone kills every species of fungus in man, beast and plant in a few minutes. Instead of spitting out the gargle, he recommended the swallowing of it. In extreme cases in which he had been called just in the nick of time, when the fungus was too nearly clothing to allow the gargling, he blew the sulphur through a quill into the throat, and after the fungus had shrunk to allow of it, then the gargling. He never lost a patient from diphtheria.

If the patient cannot gargle, take a live coal put on a shovel and sprinkle a spoonful or two of flour of brimstone at a time upon it, let the sufferer inhale it, holding the head over it, and the fungus will die. If plentifully used, the whole room may be filled almost to suffocation, the patient can walk about in it, inhale the fumes with doors and windows shut. The mode of fumigating a room with sulphur has often proved most violent attacks of diphtheria, cholera, etc., at any time, and is unexcelled in cases of consumption and asthma.—Boston

There isn't a man in the Senate but will take Cockerell's statement, in or out of the Senate as absolutely and fully true. He has a unique reputation in that behalf. He never forgets, and he's very careful. He's sure of his facts before he makes an assertion.

During the 20 years he has been in the senate no one ever found him in a misstatement. And to-day all over the Senate Cockerell's world is at absolute par and legal tender with all.

How it Feels to be Shot.

The following is from an interview with General Miles in the Bloomington Pantagraph:

"You have been wounded several times, general. How does it feel to be shot?"

"That depends on where the ball strikes you," replied General Miles.

"If it passes through the fleshy part of the body without hitting a bone, it is a half mile away before you realize that you are shot."

"If it meets with resistance, however, you get the full force of the bullet, and it strikes you like a sledge hammer."

"I was shot in the neck. The ball cut along the side of my throat, under the ear, and passed on."

"At Chancellorsville a ball struck my waist belt plate and then deflecting went into my body."

"The blow paralyzed me. I could not move for weeks from my waist downward, and every one thought I would die."

"I was taken home to Massachusetts, and after a few days I surprised the doctor by moving my right foot."

"They took this for a sign that the ball was in the opposite side of the body, and probed for it, laying the bone of my hip bare."

"They found the bone broken and took out nine pieces, leaving one, which they failed to find."

"They found the bullet several inches farther down than these pieces of broken bone."

"At another time I was wounded in the shoulder by the ball of a bullet. I was holding my sword up to my shoulder when the bullet struck the edge of the blade, one half of the bullet flying on and the other going into my shoulder."

"At another time I was wounded in the foot, the ball striking a Mexican spur that I was wearing and going off into my foot."

"By the way, I think I have the spur." Here the general opened a drawer in his desk and pulled out a big Mexican spur, which was broken on one side. The break was caused by the bullet striking the spur.

THE Shakers have made a discovery which is destined to accomplish much good. Realizing that three-fourths of all our sufferings arise from stomach troubles, that the country is literally filled with people who cannot eat and digest food, without subsequently suffering pain and distress, and that many are starving, wasting to mere skeletons, because their food does them no good they have devoted much study and thought to the subject and the result is this discovery of their Digestive Cordial.

A little book can be obtained from your druggist that will point out the way of relief at once. An investigation will cost nothing and will result in much good.

Children all hate to take Castor Oil, but not Laxol, which is palatable.

FLORENCE, the actor, once gave some advice to a friend in these words: "My dear:—One gallon of whiskey costs about $3 and contains 65 15-cent drinks. Now if you must drink, buy a gallon and make your wife the barkeeper. When you are dry give her 15 cents for a drink and when the whiskey is gone she will have, after paying for it, $6.75 left and every gallon thereafter will yield the same profit. This money she should put away, so that when you have become an inebriate, unable to support yourself and shunned by every respectable man, your wife may have money to keep you until your time comes to fill a drunkard's grave."

If you're in doubt whether your trouble is Indigestion or Dyspepsia, just take a few doses of Simmons Liver Regulator it will settle the whole question. "I have tried Simmons Liver Regulator for Dyspepsia and find it just the thing to relieve me. A small dose after meals is sure to prevent indigestion."—S. S. Perkins, Sharon, Ga. "It is the best medicine to aid digestion."—J. J.
Black, Duncan, Arizona.

A Snake Story.

An old railroad man in Brookfield Budget.
"About a year ago," the west end freight conductor started off, "a long haired, male passenger got on the caboose at Meadville going west.
He held in his hand a common wheat sack, which he handled in a careless manner. My brakeman began a sort of a geying conversation with the long haired passenger; asked him about the 'craps' and as to his destination, etc. At Wheeling we took the side track, and the head brakeman came back to the caboose, and joined in the process of geying the stranger."

"Are you going to the mill?" asked the head man.

"Ho," said the passenger.

"Got anything in your sack?" inquired the head man.

"The native here arose, and standing in close proximity to all of us proceeded to turn the sack bottom side up and shake it. Holy Moses, what scattering there was! The head man made for the door; the hind man, clumped into the cupola quicker than I ever saw him do it before; and I gave a yell and jumped upon the seat. That long haired old fool had turned a big rattlesnake loose among us, which wriggled about and then coiled, sounding his rattle, like the burr of a thresher. I threatened to kill the owner of that snake right there, and he proceeded to calmly drop the mouth of the sack over his pet and scooped him into the sack again. I had a hard time keeping the brakeman from doing him harm when he got off at Cream Ridge. As we pulled out, the fool grinned and waved his sack.
Since then I have learned that he is a sort of a snake charmer, and that he is well known up and down the Hannibal road, and that he once caused a stampede in a certain saloon in Brookfield by the same trick he played us."

Cockerell's Rank in the Senate.

Cockerell is not bright and imaginative like Vest; can't make the speech Vest does. But he is a man of sense and invincible courage. This makes him a valuable man.

He has been for years on the Appropriations Committee, chairman of it now, and he probably knows more about the details of Government finance, where it gets its money and how it spends it, than any other member of the Senate. Hardly a day goes by but some Senate talking will pause and appeal to Cockerell to set him right on dates and figures. All of them do this—Sherman, Teller, Calhoun, Allison and the rest of the Republicans as well as the other.—Washington Letter

To Delinquent Subscribers.

All old subscription scores to the COURIER must be settled between now and January 1st, 1896. Those who do not pay up by that time must not be surprised to find their accounts placed in the hands of an attorney for collection. Our former friends, who can not pay us the money, can bring in enough corn to cover the amount of their subscription dues. We will pay $1 a barrel for all the corn brought us on subscription, but we will only take corn from those who can not pay us the money.

How Can I Obtain a Situation?

Just four words will answer this question—prepare yourself for one.

The cities and towns are full of situations. Show your employers that you can fill one and you will experience no further trouble. Getting a place is a matter of very small importance compared with keeping it and advancing in it. Influence may obtain for you a dozen positions, but you will end where you began unless you have the requisite qualifications. The solution of this question seems to be the chief anxiety with a large number of young men and young women, when in fact none is more easily solved. Too many make it a rule to see how poorly qualified they can be, hoping to ride into responsible positions on the shoulders of other people, instead of making it a point to so thoroughly understand that may be required of them that they can, with confidence, walk in on the strength of their qualifications. He who stands on his own merits will outstrip him who is dependent on the influence of others. The one must beg or even buy employment, the other will be asked to accept a situation and be paid a remunerative salary because he is worthy of it.

At no better place can you make this preparation than in the business and shorthand department of Central College, Fayette, Mo.

WOMEN SHOULD KNOW

That the Disorders commonly called "Female Diseases" are the Foundation of nearly all the Troubles from which they suffer.

Whitens, Chlorosis, Falling of the Womb, Painful and Irregular Menses are caused by derangements of the organs of menstruation. Headache, Backache, Dizziness, Eruptions of the Skin and Fainting Spells are also symptoms of the same diseases. Being only symptoms, their temporary relief does not cure the disease.

McKREE'S WINE OF CARDUI

CURES FEMALE DISEASES

by acting directly upon the delicate organs affected.
It can be taken in the privacy of home. Thousands of ladies use it. Druggists sell and commend it.
